

Chad Hansen

Uniden

4700 Amon Carter Blvd.

Fort Worth, TX. 76155, USA

Know It All Critic

Chad has spent his entire life demanding the best from himself and everyone he knows. He combines this with what he thinks of as keen eye for detail and his friends think of as a touch of OCD. When Chad was young he sometimes had a hard time fitting because he was always pointing out how things were wrong. Once he went to college he mellowed a bit, probably because he finally met people smart enough to start pointing out how he was wrong.

Now that he's married and working he's had to reign in his natural inclination to help people make things more right.

But he still has an outlet on the internet where he's been participating in flame wars since back in the usenet days.

Sorry honey, I can't come to bed right now, somebody is wrong on the Internet.

Chad's incredibly well read and knows how to use the internet for maximal research effectiveness. because of this he seems to have a boundless supply of trivia and facts at hand which he loves to share with people.

Every night Chad hops online and starts perusing all his bookmarks. If he sees anything wrong he'll leave a comment providing the correct information. Once he's done with his bookmarks he'll hop on Digg and see if there is anything else on the internet that just isn't quite right.

Vitals
Male	36
Mechanical Engineer	Dallas, TX
Married	$64,000

Goals
Help people get it right
Feel smart